Department:
Police
REPUBLIC OF SOUTH AFRICA

FOREWORD BY MINISTER OF POLICE

In 2009 the Ministry of Police embarked on a process to strengthen civilian oversight of the police.

The Civilian Secretariat for Police (Secretariat) is destined to become a designated department from 1st April 2014. It is indeed a milestone after being a cost centre of the SAPS over the last almost 18 years. The Civilian Secretariat for Police plays a key role in the development of policies and legislation with regard to policing in South Africa.

Key legislation such as the Criminal Law (Forensic Procedures) Amendment Act, Act No. 37 of 2013, the Dangerous Weapons Act, Act 15 of 2013 and the Private Security Industry Regulations Amendment Bill, 2012 are amongst the pieces of legislation that the Civilian Secretariat for Police has piloted since 2011. A major focus for the Civilian Secretariat for Police is now to manage and finalize the comprehensive review of the South African Police Service Act.

At a policy level the Civilian Secretariat for Police has been involved in the development of a number of policies including; a public order policing policy, a policy on reservists as well as, the Use of Force policy, a policy on Detection and a policy on Critical Infrastructure, the last three were all developed during the last financial year. The Civilian Secretariat for Police is also in the last stages of finalizing the White Paper on Policing and will be completed during 2014/15.

In line with the National Development Plan, the Secretariat strengthened its relationship with civil society by engaging in community outreach programmes, aimed at speeding up the role out of Community Police Fora and Community Safety Fora. Key guidelines governing these community based structures were developed and work shopped.

More civilian oversight visits to police stations and SAPS specialist units were conducted during the last three years than ever before and the challenge now is ensuring that the outcome of the visits impacts on the performance of local stations.

With the streamlining of functions between the Civilian Secretariat for Police and the Independent Police Investigative Directorate (IPID), functions such as the monitoring of recommendations made by IPID to SAPS and monitoring the implementation of the Domestic Violence Act are now residing with the Civilian Secretariat for Police.

Provincial Secretariats are now being established, which are part of the implementation of the Civilian Secretariat for Police Act. Alignment spelled out in the Act such as the establishment of a HoD's Forum and the alignment of Sector (customised) Indicators are already finalized and implemented. Closer cooperation and the synergy of projects between provinces and the Civilian Secretariat for Police are being strengthened and deepened.

The Civilian Secretariat for Police has almost its full staff compliment which includes critical posts such as the Chief Financial Officer and the Chief Director Corporate Services. Administratively the Civilian Secretariat for Police is ready to pursue its task to provide an efficient and effective civilian oversight over the SAPS.

I wish the Secretary of Police and her team everything of the best in creating an atmosphere where all people in South Africa are safe and feel safe.

INTRODUCTION BY THE DEPUTY MINISTER OF POLICE MS MM SOTYU

The migration of the Civilian Secretariat for Police (Secretariat) to a designated department in the 2014/15 financial year is undoubtedly one of the most important milestones since the enactment of the Civilian Secretariat for Police Act of 2011. This Act with the Independent Police Investigative Directorate Act of 2011, (IPID) will further strengthen the oversight mandate over the performance and conduct of the South African Police Service (SAPS) to ensure accountability and improved service delivery.

A remarkable improvement is the administering of the Domestic Violence Act which is already noted with national and provincial team meetings happening around the country between IPID, provincial departments of safety and the SAPS. It is not perfected yet, with initial challenges with regard to uniformity, but the concept and the mandate is being implemented on all levels. The partnerships with civil society is being consolidated with memoranda of agreement and working relationships being established with labour unions, academic institutions and the farming community. The strengthening of Community Police Fora and Community Safety Fora are well advanced with guidelines being finalized and training provided.

A major improvement with regard to oversight visits to police stations and other SAPS facilities has led to a greater awareness of police accountability not only to their superiors, but also to the public at large. The standard of service and dealing with the public in general would generally lead to a better relationship between the police and communities. During such visits not only the administrative part of policing is being interrogated, but include issues such as the status of holding cells and the treatment of detainees being assessed and monitored.

The number of legislation and policies that were drafted and approved by the Secretariat over the last year is commendable, considering the limited capacity of these units over the period. The Secretariat has made great strides in formalizing key legislation in the implementation of its mandate. I wish the Secretariat the best for the new financial year in serving the people of South Africa to feel and continue to be safe.

PART A: STRATEGIC OVERVIEW

1. Updated situational analysis

1.1 Performance delivery environment

The police, unlike other departments, are given unparalleled and special powers, including the power to detain and use of force in the execution of their duties. The police are, however, accountable to a multiplicity of bodies which is fundamental to a democracy. Civilian oversight is one of the essential bodies that the police are accountable to - and cannot be a response to a crisis situation but must be imbedded in policing. Civilian oversight should also not replace internal review systems and mechanisms of the police, such as the South African Police Service (SAPS) Inspectorate and SAPS Internal Audit.

Civilian oversight of the police has been in existence since 1995. The enactment of Civilian Secretariat for Police Service Act (2011), and the Independent Police Investigative Directorate Act, (2011) respectively, has significantly strengthened and refined the oversight structures, and impacted on the environment in which the oversight structures operate. The roles of the different oversight bodies are now more clearly defined and there is a statutory requirement for civilian oversight bodies to work together and to cooperate with each other.

The partnership approach and enhanced cooperation between the oversight bodies will also serve to achieve government's vision of creating safer communities and a professional police service. The National Development Plan (NDP): Vision 2030 talks to the need to build safer communities and prioritizes the following areas:

- Strengthening the criminal justice system and implementing the 7-point plan
- Professionalizing the police service
- Implementing holistic approaches to safety and security (community safety centres)
- Increasing community participation in community safety

The Civilian Secretariat for Police (Secretariat) through its oversight, policy and strategic partnership programmes, needs to focus on the role the Secretariat can play in contributing to the achievements of areas identified in the NDP.

The enactment of the Civilian Secretariat for Police Service Act has also enabled the Secretariat to engage and access information and processes within SAPS to better enable the Secretariat to fulfill its mandate.

1.2 Organisational environment

Since 2009, the Secretariat staff compliment has grown from 38 in 2009/10 to a current fixed establishment of 114. The budget of the Secretariat has also grown from the allocated budget of R 21 912 million in 2009/10 to an estimated R99 798 million in 2014/15. The increase in staff and budget of the Secretariat was part of a process to organize the Secretariat to enable it to more effectively perform its mandate in terms of oversight of the police, and meet the needs for organizational and institutional reform that have occurred over the last four years.

The Civilian Secretariat for Police 2014/15 Annual Performance Plan highlights the many organizational structural changes that occurred since the previous financial year. This provides a good view of how the Secretariat will look during its transformation from a SAPS cost centre to a designated department. The Chief Financial Officer (CFO), Chief Directorate Legislation, Chief Directorate Corporate Services and Director Internal Audit are the key critical positions that were filled during the 2012/13 and 2013/14 financial years. These appointments are reflected in the additional key indicators that were added in 2014/15. Such appointments are key in the smooth running of the administration and provide mechanisms for improved accountability and compliance. Human resource policies applicable to the Secretariat that were introduced, will be improved to suit the needs for an independent department. Internal audit will be further strengthened by the appointment of an Audit Committee which will improve internal control, compliance and accountability. The Office of the CFO will initiate and oversee a smooth transfer of financial accountability and service level agreements where necessary. Support functions are implemented which will be important in improving procurement and supply chain processes.

Measures that have occurred within the Secretariat to address the need for institutional and organizational reform have been:

- The Civilian Secretariat for Police becoming a designated department: Historically the Secretariat has operated as a cost centre with the SAPS and this situation is not ideal as an oversight structure should not rely on the body they are overseeing for their budget. In 2014/15 the Secretariat will for the first time become a designated department with its own budget vote.

- Restructuring of the programmes:

The Secretariat has been restructured into the following specific programmes and sub programs in order to meet its objectives:

- Administration
  - Department Management
  - Corporate Service
  - Financial Administration
  - Internal Audit
  - Office Accommodation
- Inter Sectoral Coordination and Strategic Partnership
  - Intergovernmental, Civil Society and Public Private Partnerships
  - Community Outreach
- Legislation and Policy Development
  - Policy Development and Research
  - Legislation
- Civilian Oversight, Monitoring and Evaluation
  - Police Performance, Conduct and Compliance Monitoring
  - Policy and Programme evaluations
  - Information Management

- Establishment of systems

The Secretariat is in the process of putting in place the necessary systems in order to ensure that it is able to function as a department and not a cost centre. These include ICT infrastructure, human resource, payroll, time & attendance, financial management, procurement, risk management and Internal Audit systems.

By the end of the first quarter of 2014/15 the Secretariat would have finalized the implementation of BAS, PERSAL and LOGIS systems. These applications will initially run on the SAPS network pending the completion of the set-up of the ICT infrastructure by the SITA. The ICT infrastructure is expected to be completed by the end of the 2nd quarter of the 2014/15 financial year, followed by applications and data migration from the SAPS network. The rest of the systems will be implemented by the 2nd quarter of the 2014/15 financial year.

- Legislation / mandate and role

The implementation of the Civilian Secretariat for Police Service Act has placed additional responsibilities on the Secretariat, including the monitoring of the implementation of the Domestic Violence Act (DVA), the monitoring of complaints against the SAPS, the drafting of legislation for the department and the overall management of the Community Police Forum (CPF) environment. This has required that the Secretariat become more focused and ensure better prioritization of tasks.

- Alignment with other civilian oversight structures

Provincial Departments of Safety are aligning their predetermined performance objectives with that of the Secretariat. This is in line with the Civil Secretariat for Police Service Act which emphasizes alignment and stipulates reporting lines. Customized Indicators were approved by Provincial Heads of Department to ensure all provinces participate in a uniformed and standardized outcome. Particular focus was prioritized with regard to key aspects of the Act and the National Development Plan (NDP), such as Community Safety Fora, Community Police Fora and oversight.

2. Revisions to legislative and other mandates

The Civilian Secretariat for Police Act (2011) empowers the Secretariat to fulfill its constitutional mandate. The Act provides for, amongst others things: –

The establishment of a Civilian Secretariat for Police by the Minister of Police as a designated department at national level.

The appointment, duties and functions of the Secretary of Police.

The powers and functions of the Civilian Secretariat for Police.

The responsibility of each MEC responsible for policing in the province to constitute a provincial secretariat for that province.

The establishment of provincial secretariats which are mandated to cooperate with the Secretariat at national level in terms of coordinating the monitoring and evaluation of the SAPS at local and provincial levels. It further clearly spells out provincial and national communication with regard to lines of reporting.

The Civilian Secretariat Act also places the responsibility of monitoring the implementation of the Domestic Violence Act (1998) (DVA) by SAPS, with the Secretariat.

3.2 Relating expenditure trends to strategic outcome oriented goals

The projected increase of 18% at the beginning of the MTEF period is mainly due to initial capital investment in ICT infrastructure and operational Information Management Systems. The spending will also be driven by the Secretariat's Human Resources capacitation drive during this period. The strategic goal is to establish the Secretariat as a fully functional and effective department at national level at the beginning of the MTEF period. The increase in spending is expected to stabilise at an average of 5% for the rest of the MTEF period as the department reaches its normal operating capacity.

The enactment of the Civilian Secretariat for Police Service Act (2011) expanded the mandate of the Secretariat to include various functions that were previously performed by the SAPS and the Independent Police Investigative Directorate. These activities included community outreach and monitoring of the SAPS's implementation of the Domestic Violence Act (1998). Consistent with this, the spending focus over the medium term will be on strengthening civilian oversight over the SAPS through strategic and collaborative partnerships with civil society, intergovernmental and private institutions.

Between 2013/14 and 2016/17, spending in the Secretariat is expected to increase significantly as the Secretariat establishes itself as a separate department and begins to incur operational costs. Most of the Secretariat's expenditure is on compensation of employees, due to the labour intensive nature of the oversight functions it performs. These include conducting over 400 oversight visits each year and deepening public participation in crime prevention through community outreach programmes and anti-crime campaigns. The Secretariat has 19 vacant positions, which are a result of internal promotions and difficulties experienced in finding suitable candidates. There are 119 filled posts, and this number is expected to increase to 143 in the 2014/15 financial year and remain at this level over the medium term. This will result in the increase in spending on compensation of employees and on training and development over the medium term.

With this additional capacity, the Secretariat expects to strengthen civilian oversight and police accountability over the medium term by increasing the number of police station oversight visits conducted from 450 in 2013/14 to 500 in 2016/17. Expenditure on travel and subsistence over the period is also expected to increase in line with the increase in the number of oversight visits. To facilitate its separation from the SAPS in 2014/15 and to ensure compliance with the accounting, budgeting and reporting requirements of the Public Finance Management Act (1999), the Secretariat is in the process of acquiring its own financial, human resources and Supply Chain Management Systems as well as the supporting ICT infrastructure. This explains the growth in expenditure for computer services in 2013/14 and the projected increase in expenditure on consultants over the medium term. Consultants are to provide specialised services to assist with setting up the budgeting, reporting and accounting requirements necessary for the Secretariat to become fully operational as a department.

PART B: PROGRAMME AND SUBPROGRAMME PLANS

The Secretariat is becoming a designated department in the 2014/15 financial year. The Secretariat will cease to function as a cost centre of the SAPS from 1st April 2014. In anticipation, the Secretariat had to review its Budget Programme Structure. This led to a drastically decrease in the number of sub-programmes and amalgamation of two Programmes which in turn required the Secretariat to review its predetermined objects, developing new ones and decreasing a large number of indicators. The Secretariat will therefore not be able to reflect predetermined objectives consistency from 2010 to 2014/15. There will thus be no reflection possible of the inner and current financial years. These will however be reflected in the 2013/14 Annual Report.

Performance and Expenditure Trends

It is estimated for the 2013/14 financial year, the budget for Goods and Services in the Sub-programme Policy Development and Research will show an overspend due to the request from the Portfolio Committee on Police that the Secretariat conduct provincial consultations for the Green Paper on Policing. This task was not planned in the 2013/14 Annual Performance Plan and would impact largely on the Programme budget. The 2014/15 budget allocation for Goods and Services for Sub-programme Policy Development and Research will increase with more than 100% in comparison with the 2013/14 budget allocation. This will have a major impact on expenditure patterns for the 2014/15 financial year.

The Sub-programme Legislation budget for the 2014/2015 financial year is R8, 136 million, of which R4, 546 million is for Compensation for personnel of the Sub-programme Legislation and R 3,590 million is for Goods and Services. A significant portion of the Goods and Services budget is earmarked for drafting 5 pieces of departmental legislation. This constitutes approximately 47 % of this budget. This budget is estimated to be sufficient to meet the costs of drafting Bills, stakeholder and parliamentary engagements, workshops, publication in the Government Gazette and other related expenditure. An additional amount of R 1 072 548 has been estimated for the DNA Oversight and Ethics Board that is in the process of being established by the Minister. The Board is expected to be appointed in April 2014. The total estimated expenditure for Goods and Services budget will be sufficient for the 2014/2015 financial year, and will leave an under-spending of approximately R321 000. However, the cost of the Firearms Appeal Board has not been factored into the budget of the Sub-programme Legislation as it has been provided for in the budget of Civilian Oversight, Monitoring and Evaluation Unit.
